Jesus Talks with the Samaritan Woman Meditations of Father Nicola Avancini SJ. 1612-1686 A.D.

"Jesus being wearied with his journey, sat thus on the well (Jn.4:6)

His zeal for the salvation of the soul of one woman, and her a sinner, made Our Lord walk till He was tired, and then stop and wait at the place where He knew she would come. No soul is of small account in His eyes. Let us therefore also seek the salvation of those of apparently small account, because their value in the sight of God is not measured by their riches or station in life.

St. Ambrose says: "He is wearied because He has been so long seeking after thee also", journeying, that is, laboring long, and finally suffering. He sits and waits for us to come. Why do we delay in our approach? Why do we stand so far off and even turn our backs?

"Then cometh a woman of Samaria, to draw water. Jesus said to her: Give me to drink" (ver.7).

Oh happy woman, to come at the very time that Jesus was waiting for her! Sometime neglected opportunity is the cause of future unhappiness. If we considered this fact more often how attentive we would be to the graces God gives us! He asked but little of this woman that He might give her much, 'a fountain of water, springing up into life everlasting' (ver.14). This is God's invariable practice. faithfulness in little things reaps abundant reward, just as the neglect of little things may lead in the end to grave sin.

"Then the Samaritan woman said to Him: How dost thou being a Jew, ask of me to drink, who am a Samaritan woman? (ver.9). The Samaritans were not on friendly terms with the Jews, but even enemies do not deny one another a drink of water, as this woman insinuated, and that is how we sometimes treat Our Blessed Lord. How often does He thirst and beg us for things which, after all, only concern our own salvation, and we deny them to Him? How great is the thirst of Christ for our salvation! He loves us even more than the devil hates us. Can we deny anything to such love, to assuage such thirst, of which, too, in the end, the fruit will be all ours?

"Jesus answered and said to her: If thou didst know the gift of God and who he is that says to thee: Give me to drink; thou perhaps would have given thee living water. (Jn.4:10).

The Samaritan woman, not knowing the gift of God in Whose very presence she was now actually standing, did not know what it was He was asking of her. She had not therefore yet asked Him for the "living water" for herself. All the benefits of our salvation depend on our recognition of the presence of God. If we really meditate on His presence would we not have better control of our affections? It was by His presence that our Lord was able to instruct her about the Messiah, about adoring God 'in spirit and in truth' (ver.23), and at the same time give her a horror of her former life. Thus does God stand before us and invite us to follow Him. But, as says St. Augustine, "He who made thee without thine assistance will not save thee without it."

"Sir, give me this water, that I may not thirst, nor come hither to draw"(ver.15).

The effects of conversing with Christ were now as follows: Her heart became inflamed with a desire for the heavenly water; from confessing her secret sins she acknowledged the Messiah; from being a sinner she became an apostle, leaving her water pot, running to the city, and calling everyone to Christ: "Come, and see a man who has told me all things whatsoever I have done. Is not He the Christ?" (ver.29) Let us follow her, and progress as she did, stirring up a desire for the water of grace, seeking it with great reverence, leaving behind the water pot of our old habits, rejoicing that we have found Jesus, and trying to bring others to Him.

"In the meantime the disciples prayed Him, saying: Rabbi, eat...Jesus said to them: My meat is to do the will of Him that sent me, that I may perfect his work" (ver.31,34).

St. John Chrysostom says: "Jesus here calls the salvation of souls His very food, to show us how immense is His desire and yearning for our salvation." It was by yearning to this extent that He fulfilled His Father's will. We too are His food, because He longs for our salvation also. What wondrous grace! Let us imitate it, and make obedience our food also. "What," says St. Bernard, "comforts and sustains us in every necessity like obedience to God's will?" Let our food be zeal for souls. St. Augustine says that we are guilty of the loss of any souls that we could seize and do not do so.

Неділя самарянки

У візантійській традиції жінку-самарянку називають Фотиною (тобто Світланою), – «осяяною світлом», бо її серце було твердим і наповнилося світлом Христа. Як Ісус викликав у неї спрагу світла? Діялог між Ісусом та жінкою-самарянкою багато що відкриває нам.

Ми знаємо, що іноді наше серце затверділо, і не тому, що воно страждає, а тому, що замикається в собі, сповнене розчарування, бунту, гіркоти чи зневіри. Насправді причиною цього є всього лише брак сопричастя, наше відокремлення від інших. Саме з таким смутком на серці жінка-самарянка зустрічає Ісуса. Все починає змінюватися, коли Ісус просить у неї пити. Ісус першим шукає нас біля тієї криниці, де ми намагаємося втамувати свою спрагу. Він нахилиється до нас, Він спраглий нас. Ця мить дуже важлива. Не відвертаймо від Нього обличчя, слухаймо Його поклик, продовжуймо цю зустріч з Ним, адже в ній Бог іде до нас у своїй безмежній гуманності. Саме тоді, коли приймемо цей погляд Господа щирим серцем, нас почне наповнювати Його світло.

Спочатку наш діалог із ним є суперечкою, ми повертаємося до своїх численних заперечень та сумнівів. Я сперечаюся, хочу уникнути Його, проте Він не лише не заперечує моїх аргументів, а з кожним разом кличе мене зійти все глибше. Він невтомно пропонує мені свою любов, поки я не наблизюся, врешті, до моменту істини.

«Нема в мене чоловіка» (Йо. 4, 17). Так само зізнаємося і ми, визнаючи, що бігли за химерами, аби компенсувати свою спрагу бути любленими. Ісус не відкидає нас, не дорікає нам, Він лише просить нас бути з Ним щирими. Тоді в нас виникає правдива спрага, що зустрічається з Його спрагою.

«Бачу, пане, – пророк Ти» (Йо. 4, 19). Починає засвічуватися світло, я вже не обороняюся, починаю шукати. Щасливі ми, якщо подібно, як та жінка, йдемо просто до головного питання: де поклонитися Богові? Де знайти того, хто є всім, хто візьме все моє життя і зробить щасливою всю мою істоту? Ісус відповідає на її запитання, виявляючи Отця (вперше у Євангелії від Йоана) та поклоніння Йому в душі і правді (див. Йо. 4, 21 – 24). То ж ось де світло: «Хто правду чинить – іде до світла» (Йо. 3, 21). «Відаю, що має прийти Месія...» (Йо. 4, 25). Тепер серце відкрите в очікуванні, воно може прийняти правдиве світло: «То я, що говорю з тобою» (Йо. 4, 26).

То ж я можу залишити і криницю, і глечик, адже заструменіло джерело: воно в мені, і Ти, Господи, втамуєш мою спрагу своїм Духом Святим. Твоє світло наповнює мене, я не можу його ховати. Воно огортає мене, але я ним не володію. Твоє слово просвітило мене, я не можу мовчати про нього. Я встану та оббіжу ціле місто, звіщаючи усім спраглим любови, що я знайшла того, кого серце моє любить, і кого я не знала. Та дивовижна жінка вже є Церквою, її світланком. Вона була першою, через яку «засяяло знання Божої слави, що на обличчі Ісуса Христа» (2 Кор. 4, 6), засяяла найгуманніша любов, адже вона – від Бога. А як зустрічаємо Ісуса ми?
